

Online backup services

To protect application data, Xsdot has implemented local and remote backup services. The backups are stored incremental to save storage space, also the backup services can be setup using various backup occurrences (daily, weekly, etc). To protect the data from third parties it is stored using three encryption methods/layers and when a backup is transported it is secured by an extra encryption layer.

Xsdot backup & recovery services

Local online backup service

Remote online backup service

Backup download and decryption service