

Page service

The page service represents an empty framework that is used for creating web pages. By default a web page service is indexed by the internal search engine and web pages are published to external search engines when using a 'Search engine publisher' service. For the rest the page service includes a meta keyword editor for S.E.O. purposes.

