Item view service

An item view service is used to put a view on an item or a groups of items, the view service presents the item or items using a design and interaction design definition stored in a template. Because of the open nature of this service/function this service is used for many presentation purposes depending on the used templates. In general the item view service is used for the following functions,

* To show an item or group of items on another location in a site or application.
* For the creation of menus, link lists and content lists.