

PDF service

Xsdot developed a PDF output system for the creation of high resolution folders, books and product catalogs used for offline printing straight out of the websites content. Different designs templates and page sizes can be implemented per site or application.

