

Temperature & humidity service

This service enables the connection of several temperature and humidity sensors on a server. This service can be used by the Alarm manager to fire alarm events when for example the temperature gets to high. This service is also used to control a climate online in for example houses and offices.

