

Remote online backup service

The remote backup services are used to make backups remotely through the internet, basically any Xsdot application server can backup other Xsdot application servers online. The remote backup services are fully automated excluding the need to rotate backup tapes, bring backup tapes physically to another location or test the backup tapes.

