

Event component

An event component represents a framework for creating events. Events are for example published in the web site as RSS feeds or event lists.

This component is deprecated and normally replaced with the community components that include news functionalities and more.

